TV Listening Systems

Enjoy Watching TV Together Again!

How do they work?

TV listening systems allow you to listen to the TV at a volume that's comfortable without disturbing anyone else in the room! They consist of two main parts—a transmitter and a receiver. The transmitter connects to your TV and transmits wirelessly to the receiver worn by the listener.

Technology Choices

- RF Radio Frequency (RF) systems transmit sound through radio waves and have a range of 100-300+ feet. The main benefit to these systems is that their signal can travel through walls and ceilings, so you can hear the TV no matter what room you're in!
- IR Infrared (IR) systems transmit sound through infrared light. These systems tend to be less expensive than RF systems, but have a limited range since their signal cannot travel through walls.
- LP Loop systems allow those with telecoil equipped hearing aids to enjoy watching TV through the comfort of their own hearing aid(s), without needing to wear a separate receiver!
- Bluetooth Bluetooth® systems have a range of up to 30 ft, and can be used for cell phone calls as well as listening to the TV.

Cell Phone Accessories

Clearer Conversations on the Go!

Many mainstream cell phones and cell phone accessories simply aren't loud enough or clear enough for people with hearing loss. And if you wear hearing aids, you know how frustrating it can be to make phone calls in a noisy environment, because your hearing aids are amplifying the noise around you. We carry a variety of cell phone accessories that work with virtually all cell phones and will help make your conversations enjoyable again.

Cell Phone Signalers

If you have difficulty hearing when you get a call or text message, cell phone signalers will alert you to your calls and messages by flashing light, loud sound and vibration.

Neckloops and Silhouettes

These are specifically designed for people who have telecoil-equipped hearing aids. They work by generating an electromagnetic signal that allows you to hear the conversation directly through your hearing aids, while cutting out the background noise. Both neckloops and silhouettes tend to work well for most people, but if you have an "automatic" telecoil you may find that silhouettes work better for you.

Telephones

Amplified Telephones

Amplified phones come with amplification and tone control, which allows you to turn the volume up much higher than you can on a traditional phone, as well as adjust the frequency of the other caller's voice to better fit your hearing. Some phones allow you to pair a Bluetooth® cellphone and will amplify both cell and landline calls (pages 18-20). Other phones come with captioning capabilities (funded by the FCC) which will caption your conversation on a large built-in screen, as well as amplify it (pages 26-29). All of the phones in this section are hearing aid compatible, so you shouldn't experience any feedback or interference that can be caused by hearing aids.

Things to look for when buying:

The most important step in choosing an amplified phone is determining how much amplification you need, and this will depend on the degree of your hearing loss. We've developed a color scale that shows you the amplification level of each phone, and whether it is recommended for your hearing loss.

Mild (30dB)

Are you missing words or straining to hear the conversation but still manage to get through it?

Moderate (30-45dB)

Do you find yourself constantly asking the speaker to repeat themselves?

Severe (50dB +)

Have you decided to stop using the phone altogether because it is too difficult to hear?

Hearing loss can be degenerative. It may be good to get a phone with higher amplification and turn the volume down.

Raising the Bar—Again!

CaptionCall is proud to be the first and only captioning telephone that meets the strict amplification standards established by the Telecommunications Industry Association (TIA) for individuals with mild, moderate or severe hearing loss. This means you will be able to hear and understand speech better on the CaptionCall phone than on any other captioning telephone. In fact, most amplified phones don't even meet these strict standards.

The CaptionCall phone also meets the TIA-1083 standard for hearing aid compatibility and reduced interference. Hearing aid users will experience significantly reduced interference when using their TIA compliant CaptionCall phone, improving their conversations with less static or buzz.

CaptionCall continues to lead the captioned telephone service industry as a service provider and as an advocate for individuals with hearing loss. No one else comes close.

Emergency Response Systems

Protect Yourself & Your Loved Ones!

How do they work?

Emergency Response Systems offer independence and peace of mind for aging parents and their loved ones. They come with a wireless pendant that is worn around the neck or wrist. In the event there is an emergency and you are unable to reach the phone, simply activate the pendant and it will connect you to friends, family, or emergency personnel for assistance. And the best part? No monthly fees!

Your Options Explained:

Amplified Emergency Phones: These are great for those who want to combine the every day benefits of an amplified phone with the security of an emergency response system. In the event of an emergency, simply activate the included wireless pendant and your phone will begin dialing through a list of preprogrammed numbers until someone picks up. The other caller will then listen to a short pre-programmed message informing them of an emergency, and then they will be able to begin a two-way conversation with you.

Personal Emergency Response Devices: These products are designed for emergency purposes and some cannot be used for regular phone calls. The greatest benefit to these systems is the ability to communicate directly through the pendant itself, rather than relying on your phone's speakerphone for communication.

In-Ear/PSAP Personal Amplifiers

A Discreet Way to Hear Better!

How do they work?

In-Ear Personal Amplifiers, or Personal Sound Amplification Products (PSAPs) provide an affordable, discreet way to help you hear better in a variety of situations. Worn in or behind the ear, they will pick up the sounds around you, filter out the background noise, and amplify speech for a more effortless listening experience.

PSAPs will amplify sound anywhere from 15dB-30dB, making them a great solution for anybody needing a little extra boost in difficult hearing situations. For those needing more amplification, consider checking out our hand-held/body worn amplifiers on pages 50-54.

Please note that PSAPs are not hearing aids. To explore all your options, have your hearing evaluated by a hearing health professional. PSAPs can help you hear better in a variety of situations, but cannot be programmed to fit specific hearing loss. They are, however, far less expensive and can be purchased without the a professional exam.

The BEAN® Quiet Sound Amplifier.®

The BEAN requires no adjustment. It automatically amplifies only the soft sounds of speech, with just the right amount of high-frequency emphasis for improved clarity. It does not amplify loud sounds: Loud sounds pass through unamplified as if nothing is in the ear. Musicians love the superb sound quality.

The BEAN
Quiet Sound Amplifier®

Etymotic Research first introduced the concept of a direct-to-consumer personal sound amplifier to the Food and Drug Administration in 2001. We are now at a time where technology should be easily accessible to people who need it.

The audiologists and engineers at Etymotic Research are committed to providing the highest fidelity, affordable hearing solutions available without prescription or government regulation. We believe that everyone should have access to affordable personal sound amplifiers. Many progressive hearing professionals, consumer groups and prominent otologists agree.

Personal sound amplifiers are non-medical consumer products intended for use by anyone wishing to hear better, regardless of hearing ability, and used in any environment for any purpose a consumer chooses.

Personal FM/ Digital Systems

Hear from a Distance with Ease

FM/Digital systems transmit sound wirelessly and are great for use in classrooms, churches, or any other setting where you are a distance away from the person speaking. The person speaking has a transmitter with microphone that sends the sound signal to a receiver which is worn by the hard of hearing individual. They can then plug headphones, earphones, or a neckloop (for those with t-coil equipped hearing aids) into the receiver and control the volume and tone of the person they are listening to for effortless listening.

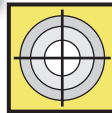

Microphone Options

Omni-directional microphones pick up sound from every direction, while directional microphones allow you to focus on a single person's voice, which can be really helpful in noisy environments.

Receivers with Microphones

All FM systems come with receivers that allow you to amplify the sound coming from the transmitter, but some receivers also have the ability to amplify the sounds immediately around you as well. This is a great for when you want to be able to focus on the speaker, but still hear the people who are directly around you.

Range

FM systems typically have a range of 75-100 feet. The range can vary depending on the environment.

Loop Systems & Receivers

Where would I use a Loop System?

Loop systems can be used in many different settings. They can be installed permanently in homes, classrooms, meeting rooms, etc. Portable loop products are also available and are great for use in the car or one-on-one conversations.

How do they work?

An induction loop system consists of a thin wire that is placed around the listening area and connects into an amplifier. When the listener switches their hearing aid to the "T" or Telecoil (t-coil) setting, it picks up the electromagnetic signal from whatever sound source is plugged into the amplifier, and lets them hear the sound directly through their hearing aid(s)! Even those without hearing aids can benefit from a loop system by purchasing a telecoil receiver (see page 64).

Hear Directly Through Your
Telecoil-Equipped Hearing Aid!

Contacta HLD3 Loop

The Contacta HLD3 loop is a powerful wireless loop system that transforms your telecoil-equipped hearing aids or cochlear implants into your own little personal loudspeakers. Hear clear sound from your TV or other audio sources, or use the mic (sold separately—see below) to hear during meetings or while with small groups. Installation is simple. Choose from the loop pad which slips under your chair, or the loop wire which is wrapped around the perimeter of a room. Once inside the loop's range, you will hear beautiful, clear sound through your t-coil equipped hearing aids or cochlear implant.

Alarm Clocks

How do they work?

Standard alarm clocks are not very effective at waking people with hearing loss, especially those who are severely hard of hearing or deaf. Wake-Up Options:

Bed Shaker: Most of our alarm clocks also come with bed shakers, which are placed under your mattress or pillow. When the alarm is activated, the bed shaker will vibrate to wake you up!

Lamp Flasher: This feature allows you to plug a lamp into your clock. When the alarm is activated the lamp will flash on and off. If you are looking for a clock with this feature, just look for our handy lamp icon!

Signaling Systems Buyer's Guide

Signaling systems are designed to help notify you of different events, such as the phone/ videophone ringing, the doorbell, a baby's cry, motion, weather alerts, and smoke or carbon monoxide alarms. Also known as "Alerting or Notification Systems," these devices can alert you to different events through flashing lights, loud audible alarms, and/or vibration.

There are 4 main things to consider when customizing your system:

1 Transmitters

Doorbell/
Door Knock

Phone/
VP/TTY

Sound

Baby Cry

Fire/CO

Alarm Clock

Motion

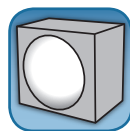

Pendant

Which events do you want to be notified of?

You will need to purchase one transmitter for each event you would like to be notified of. Each transmitter is designed to alert you for a specific event, however, some transmitters do work for more than one event, such as a door and phone transmitter. For example, if you want to be alerted when your phone rings and when your baby is crying—you would purchase one phone transmitter and one baby cry transmitter.

2 Receivers

Strobe

Lamp

Bed Shaker

Pager

Horn/Audible

Watch

How many rooms do you want to be notified in?

For each room you want to be notified in, you will need to purchase a receiver. For example, if you wanted to be alerted in the bedroom, living room, and kitchen, you should purchase 3 receivers. Some brands also have portable watch or pager receivers that you can bring with you wherever you go in your home. Each receiver will work with all of your transmitters, as long as they are the same brand and frequency.

3 Compatibility

To ensure compatibility you must purchase the same brand of signaling components.

4 Technology

Radio Frequency (RF) Technology

This technology sends a signal from your transmitters to your receivers through radio waves. It is ideal for both home use and for people who live in apartments, dorms, or other types of public housing because built-in dip switches can be adjusted to ensure your system will not interfere with a neighboring system. For various reasons, some people find that this technology works more reliably for them than line carrier does.

Line Carrier Technology

This technology sends a signal from your transmitters to your receivers through your home's electrical circuits. There are not any specific advantages to this technology that you need to be aware of, but the brands below have always been very popular with our customers.

The following brands are Radio Frequency:

Emergency Products

How do they work?

The products in this section are specifically designed to alert deaf and hard of hearing people to emergencies such as fire, carbon monoxide, and severe weather. They use low frequency audible alarms, strobe lights and/or bed shakers to make sure you and your family stay safe in the event of an emergency, no matter how severe your hearing loss!

Things to look for when buying:

T3, T4 and Continuous Sound: T3 sound pattern is the beep-beep-beep-pause sound found in most smoke alarms. It has been the required alarm sound for residential homes since 1996 and the only alarm sound we sell. A continuous smoke alarm's siren continues to play without pauses and would be present in older alarms. The T4 sound pattern is found in CO alarms that make a beep-beep-beep-beep-pause sound. Many states have requirements for CO alarm installation and we recommend checking your local regulations.

Battery Back-up: Products with this symbol have battery back-up, which can keep you safe even during a power outage. Battery back-up works only for the audible aspect of the alarm unless otherwise specified.

"Listen and Alert" Fire Alarms

Recommended for...

Those who already have existing T3 smoke alarms in their home, but have a hearing loss that may prevent them from waking up at night if the alarms go off.

How they work...

Rather than detecting smoke themselves, these fire alarms are designed to "listen" to your home's existing T3 smoke alarms. If it hears one activate, it will then "alert" you by emitting a high decibel, low frequency audible alarm and by vibrating a bed shaker that is placed under your mattress or pillow.

Lifetone HLAC151™ "Listen and Alert" Fire Alarm

For Use with Existing Smoke Alarms

The Lifetone uses a 520Hz square-wave sound pattern proven to be more effective at waking the hard of hearing, seniors, children, and deep sleepers than standard alarms. It is not only a state of the art fire alarm, but also an attractive and easy-to-use alarm clock. When it detects the T3 alarm pattern of a smoke alarm, your Lifetone wakes you up and alerts you with 4 different signals: a loud, low-pitched (520 Hz) T3 alarm; a talking voice giving instruction; a powerful vibrating bed shaker; and FIRE in large text against a flashing orange backlight. Two year limited warranty.

- Hears your existing T3 smoke detectors
- Alerts you to AC power loss and low or no battery
- Battery back-up (batteries included) lasts 7 days and can operate audible alarm and bed shaker
- Includes one water-resistant bed shaker
- Functions as a standard alarm clock as well
- Dimensions: 8.25" W x 3.75" H x 2.5" D
- UL listed

No. HC-LIFETONE2 $214.95

RemoteLync Smart Home Monitor

For Use with Existing Smoke/Carbon Monoxide Alarms

Receive notification on your smartphone of a smoke or CO emergency—even when you are away from home! Simply download the free app, plug the RemoteLync into an outlet, and it will listen for your existing smoke or carbon monoxide alarms. Once an alarm goes off, RemoteLync uses your home's WiFi to send an alert to your smartphone, which you can then decide to call a preprogrammed contact or 911. One year warranty.

- Different alerts for smoke and CO alarms
- Voice prompts help with installation and testing
- One RemoteLync unit will cover all alarms in an average-sized U.S. home
- Connects to your existing wireless router and sends messages via your home's WiFi
- Free app for devices running Android 4.1 or later and iOS 6.0 or later
- Dimensions: 2.25" W x 2.25" H x 2.25" D
- Compatible with UL listed smoke or CO alarms made after 1999

No. HC-R/LYNC $99.99

Please Note: While the RemoteLync is great for notifications while you are awake, it may not be enough to wake you up. For notification while you sleep, we recommend an option with a bed shaker and flashing lights (see above).

SafeAwake "Listen and Alert" Fire Alarm

For Use with Existing Smoke Alarms

The SafeAwake provides essential protection for deaf and hard of hearing people in the event of a fire. Once an existing T3 smoke alarm is activated, the SafeAwake alerts you with its intermittent bed shaker, flashing white light and high-decibel, low frequency (520Hz) alarm—proven to be significantly more effective at waking people with hearing loss when compared to standard alarms. Two year warranty.

AC-Powered Smoke Alarms

Recommended for...

Those on a budget living in studio apartments, dormitories, or other small dwellings.

How they work...

These are simple to use and can be installed in seconds! Simply plug into any wall outlet and mount it on the wall. When smoke reaches the room, you will be alerted by a bright, built-in flashing strobe light.

It's important to note that AC-powered alarms cannot be interconnected like hard-wired alarms, so if you place one in your bedroom and a fire starts in a different room, you may not be alerted immediately. That's why we recommend these alarms only for studio apartments or dormitories, or for those who are planning to purchase one in conjunction with a "listen and alert" alarm (see page 110).

Hard-Wired Smoke Alarms (pages 111-112)

Recommended for...

Those who live in homes with multiple floors and rooms and want to ensure they are alerted as early as possible to a fire, no matter which room it starts in.

How they work...

Multiple units are placed around the home and interconnected, so that when any one detector senses smoke, all alarms in the home go off simultaneously. This significantly increases the chances that you will get out safely before a fire spreads. The more rooms and floors your home has, the more important it becomes to have a complete hard-wired system.

For additional protection while you sleep, consider adding a "listen and alert" fire alarm (page 110) to your hard-wired T3 system, as audible alarms and strobe lights may not be enough to wake you.

Please note that hard-wired alarms must be installed by a licensed electrician.

Gentex Smoke Alarms

Weather Alert Systems

The systems below can alert you to a weather emergency through a loud audible alarm, vibration, flashing lights, or any combination of these methods. They can also be expanded to alert you to other events in your home through the purchase of additional accessories, such as the doorbell or phone ringing.

Silent Call Weather Alert Radio with Strobe Light and Bed Shaker

This weather alert system warns you of hazardous conditions, giving you 24-hour, up-to-the-minute weather information, notifying you by light and vibration as well as a loud audible alarm on the Midland Emergency Weather Radio. The Weather Radio receives signals from NOAA, and when severe weather is about to strike it will alert you of the severity by illuminating one of three colored lights and displaying the specific warning (such as "TORNADO"). Program your specific state or county so you only get the warnings you need. The included battery backup powers the weather alert radio in case of power outage. This system will not transmit to additional receivers. One year warranty.

ADA Compliance

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990 requires that public and private entities make their facilities accessible to people with disabilities, including deaf and hard of hearing individuals.

This section focuses on ADA compliance for hotels, motels, and other places of public accommodation, which are required to provide a certain number of rooms equipped with signaling devices, phone amplifiers, and text telephones for their deaf and hard of hearing guests. Our prepackaged kits make it easy to comply with the ADA. The exact number of kits needed in order to become ADA compliant will depend on the total number of guest rooms you have in your facility.
